Why We Exist

Children need support, beyond formal education, to discover who they are and grow into confident individuals with skills to face everyday challenges.

But not every child gets access to a safe and nurturing environment, for reasons out of their control.

In the spirit of giving back to the community, EtonHouse International Education Group founded EtonHouse Community Fund in 2015 to improve the lives of children, youth and families from vulnerable backgrounds.

Vision

Our vision is to create pathways for children to discover their unique gifts to the world.

Mission

We invest in the heart of Singapore's future through initiatives that cultivate self-awareness, develop personal narratives and healthy relationships to build communities.

Chairman's Message

Hello from EtonHouse Community Fund!

"Alone we can do so little; together we can do so much."

"Alone we can do so little; together, we can do so much."

These words from Helen Keller, renowned author and disability rights advocate, resonate deeply with me. This was a year that exemplified collaboration and community building. It gives me great pleasure to outline some of this year's key initiatives, created and developed to further our mission and aligned to our three strategic pillars: cognitive development, emotional wellness, and future fitness.

Teacher Everywhere - Volunteers were recruited and trained in key aspects of teaching young children such as positive behaviour guidance and literacy development. These volunteers then went on to plan and deliver learning experiences that enhanced the children's knowledge and skills, thus setting them up for success in school. It gives me great pleasure to say that this innovative programme helped us scale and reach several vulnerable children to give them a fresh start in life, thus laying the foundation for success.

Publications - We developed resources and expanded our outreach to make a difference in the homes of our beneficiaries through sustainable and impactful parenting practices. The book on Respectful Parenting that was published became extremely popular selling several copies. I am proud to say that it is the first book written and published in Singapore on the subject and therefore very relevant for our parents. I am sure that it will make a significant and positive difference to our families. Our short film, "Little Wishes", which advocates for Respectful Parenting, reached more than 2 million viewers. We also published and distributed several copies of the book 'Tourette Syndrome and Me' in 800 public schools, among other meaningful publications that connect, convey and advocate for challenges faced by children.

Youth engagement - We continued with our mindfulness programmes reaching young people and providing educational scholarships to help enhance their opportunities to succeed in the future.

Collaborative fundraising - It was an incredible testament to our community spirit when children as young as 2 months to 18 years contributed artwork reflecting their unique interpretations of what it means to be "Celebrating SG Women". Not only did we raise funds for a meaningful cause, but we brought together a community, uniting, celebrating, and recognising women and the different roles they play in our lives.

We continued our longer-term initiatives from the previous year to support children and families through CDA top-ups, enrichment sponsorships, wifi packs, gift boxes, KidSTART centres, and towards children who have diabetes. We were also successful in raising $1.77 million in funds with the outstanding collaborative efforts of our community. It has been a busy but successful year, and it warms my heart that we were able to touch and make a meaningful difference in the lives of 4700 families.

All these achievements would not be possible without the support of our Board members, Mr. Alex Ng, Ms. Jag Arora, Mr. Navin Amarasuriya, Mrs. Ng Gim Choo, and Mr. Robson Lee. We are also honored to welcome Mr. Jared Kok as a member and Mr. Seah Moon Ming as an advisor to the board. We will strive to continue making a positive impact with their expertise and guidance. At the same time, I also extend my most profound appreciation to our retired Board member Mr. Jimmy Oh, for his invaluable guidance and contributions over the years.

I look forward to the coming year with enthusiasm. We hope to continue to build strong communities and work collaboratively towards making a difference in the lives of children and families.

Mr. Tan Cher Liang, Sebastian
Chairman, EtonHouse Community Fund

Our Objectives

To advance the cause of education, whether general, professional or technical by providing scholarships, grants, aids and financial assistance to all and in particular the poor, needy and underprivileged.

To improve the accessibility of affordable, high quality early childhood education and to contribute to enhancing the standards of pre-school curriculum, pedagogy and the teaching profession.

To advance causes contributing to the learning and holistic development of children and youths, recognizing and enhancing their abilities, promoting respect and empowerment, providing multi-lingual and multi-cultural exposures for the young and preparing them for the challenges of global citizenship.

To promote and foster community spirit, participation and development.

To aid, assist and give relief in any manner and to any extent to any charitable institution whose objects are similar to or comparable with the objects of the Community Fund.

“ The philosophy is respectful and kind... the perfect way for children to learn. ”

1 Learning and Volunteering with Joy

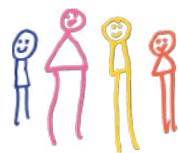

Teacher Everywhere

All children should experience the joy of reading. However, some children may not have the luxury of having books, and circumstances may prevent them from developing a habit of reading. Their first encounter with books then becomes textbooks during formal education in Primary school, and this can be incredibly stressful.

We want children to develop a positive relationship with books from a young age – to experience the joy of books, not to feel stressed when they have to pick up a book! Therefore, we partnered with EtonHouse curriculum specialists to develop Joyful Learning – a weekly programme based on storybooks to nurture in children a joy of learning and reading. Each week children are introduced to a story and engage in learning experiences around the story to extend their learning. They get to bring one book home after every session. This gift is to help them build their own home libraries and ensure they have access to storybooks.

-Teacher Everywhere Volunteer

Our team of volunteers come from diverse backgrounds, nationalities and professions, from homemakers and scientists to doctors. Together with EtonHouse Education Centre, we trained our volunteers on behaviour management, positive guidance, and strategies for leading effective story-telling and learning experiences.

We thank the many individuals who have stepped up to brighten and enrich the lives of the children through Joyful Learning. Their selfless acts of giving bring joy to our Teacher Everywhere programme.

A Respectful Parenting Advocacy

Short Film "Little Wishes" - inviting parents to step into a child's world

All children love birthday parties... Or do they? Little Wishes is a short film about what 5-year-old Noah really wants for his birthday. It invites parents to reflect on their parenting styles and to embark on a Respectful Parenting journey.

Launched on social and digital media as well as on more than 200 screens in 20 SingHealth hospitals and polyclinics, the film reached more than 2 million viewers.

Parenting Book "Respectful Parenting" - first such book for Singaporean families

Written with the average Singaporean family in mind, Respectful Parenting is a book for parents with children 0 to 7 years of age.

Filled with real-life examples from parent interviews and easy-to-implement strategies, we hope it will encourage parents to reflect and to internalise and embrace Respectful Parenting strategies.

B Children's Books

Tourette Syndrome and Me - children's book advocating for inclusion now an educational resource in schools across Singapore

"Once people understand, they don't laugh." Indeed, empathy begins with understanding what others are going through.

'Tourette Syndrome and Me' is an anecdote of a heart-to-heart conversation between Zachary, a six-year-old boy and his pre-school principal following his diagnosis of Tourette Syndrome (TS). Through this book, Zachary hopes to help other children understand and celebrate people with different abilities. The interactive read-along book comes with augmented reality (AR) features and was distributed to 800 primary schools, kindergartens, and pre-schools around Singapore. It is also available at public libraries and Molly, the Mobile Library operated by National Library Board to serve special needs students.

Indy's Diary - children's story about strength and hope

Indy's Diary journals the first six years of an undeterred young girl, India "Indy" Rose Eaton who has endured many surgeries to correct her leg bone which was affected by a genetic disorder - Neurofibromatosis Type 1 (NF1).

Illustrated by Indy and retold by Ms. Josephyne Ho, this book will spark meaningful conversations with children and is a good read for all who seek strength and encouragement when faced with life challenges.

3 Supporting the Community During the Pandemic

Fun Packs & WiFi devices - staying joyful and connected during the pandemic

Our Fun Pack contains books and learning activities to keep children meaningfully engaged as they had to stay home due to the Covid-19 pandemic. We reached out to children under the care of Social Health Growth, Club Rainbow and Anglican Family Centre with our ECF Fun Packs, bringing them fun and joy even as they remained indoors.

Connected

We also provided internet access to children and youth under the care of MSF Singapore so that they can continue their learning, remain connected to their family and friends, and keep in touch with social workers.

4 Enhancing Mental & Emotional Well-being

Mindfulness Programme

More youth are anxious, depressed and stressed than ever before. The simple act of practising mindfulness – how to relax, focus and just breathe – could be one of the greatest gifts and lifelong skills they receive. Since 2018, our Mindfulness sessions have been helping vulnerable youth develop self-awareness, emotional intelligence, and resilience. In 2021, we partnered with The Positive Movement to deliver Mindfulness sessions at Singapore Girls' Home, HCSA Dayspring RTC, Pertapis Centre for Women & Girls and YMCA.

Our Programmes

6 A Great Start to Pre-school

Pre-school plays a critical role in laying the foundation for children’s growth. Children from low-income families deserve the support they need to enrol in pre-school as well as to participate in a range of learning experiences to develop social, emotional and physical skills.

CDA Top-up

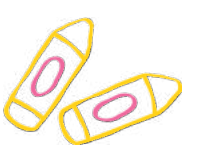

In a partnership with the Ministry of Education’s UPLIFT Office and the Community Foundation of Singapore (CFS), we disburse funds into the Child Development Accounts (CDAs) of vulnerable children. This helps families lighten financial expenses such as pre-school fees and medical bills. It also enables children to benefit from the government’s dollar-for-dollar matching contribution, thereby doubling the number of financial aid available to them.

Enrichment Sponsorship

Apart from sparking new interests and stimulating the mind, enrichment classes such as art and music also help to develop creativity, cognitive and social skills. The ECF Enrichment Sponsorship was introduced so that pre-school children from low-income families may join their peers in enrichment classes.

8 Deepening Our Impact Through Strategic Partnerships

KidSTART

KidSTART provides support for child development, strengthens holistic services for families, and monitors the developmental progress of children from birth onwards.

ECF has been a partner and supporter of kidSTART since it launched in 2016. Over the years, we have pledged a total of S$150,000 to support children from KidSTART families.

In 2021, $55,000 was disbursed to provide setup resources for KidSTART playgroups in 4 new sites.

KKH Diabetes Type A Sponsorship

To help children stay active in spite of diabetes, we partnered with KKH Health Fund to provide children with glucose monitoring devices, making it convenient and painless to check their glucose levels throughout the day.

The Year Ahead

In 2022, we remain committed to meeting the needs of the community through our programmes and services.

Programmes

Spending undistracted, quality time with children can be incredibly empowering for the entire family. Sadly, in a survey published in The Straits Times on 3rd October 2021, 75% of parents with children aged five to eight say they are too busy to enjoy quality time with their children. In the coming year, we will launch initiatives to encourage parent-child bonding and support parents through Respectful Parenting workshops.

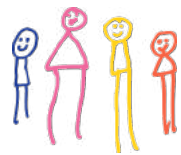

We will also continue to build a passionate group of Teacher Everywhere volunteers to bring Joyful Learning experiences to more children.

Lastly, we aim to deepen our existing programmes to support children in meaningful ways, and to continue engaging and collaborating with community partners to contribute meaningfully.

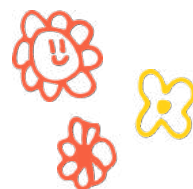

Fundraising

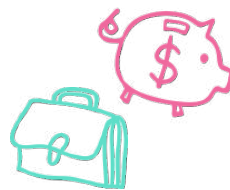

In the coming year, we will continue fundraising through donor engagement, as well as digital fundraising efforts on platforms including our website and www.giving.sg. To support our work, these are our key fundraising initiatives for 2022.
